Legal Issues in the Arts
New Media, New Technologies, New Audiences

Does your arts group use cyber marketing? There are legal issues in the brave new world of arts marketing. Some of the most innovative tools such as tweet seats and interactive media might put you at risk. Get tips from the legal experts on how you can protect your rights to the art, video and original content that you put online, on apps and on mobile devices. Be sure to come early for the Creative Happy Hour. This is a great opportunity to meet attorneys interested in the arts!
